October 11 through the 13 was the 6th Annual Dominican Connection, hosted for the first time by the Dominican College of Blauvelt in Goshen, New York. The weekend brought together three schools in the Dominican Sisters Community: Caldwell College of New Jersey, Ohio Dominican of Columbus, and D.C. of Blauvelt. Individuals who have volunteered their weekend to work on programs involving migrant farm workers and the Highbridge Empowerment Center. Students were given a tour of the Black Dirt Onion Fields, the onion capital of the world, in Pine Island, New York. Volunteers were enlightened to the harsh realities that plague this industrialized nation.

Leadership Conference

To enhance and promote student potential began two years ago, at the 1st leadership conference, and continues today with great success.

The conference provides the opportunity for students to network and develop leadership and organizational skills.

Both new and experienced student leaders learn to use their skills and talents to promote and direct various college activities.

To All My Friends and Family,

Thanks for the support! I would like to take the extra time to thank 5 very important people that put up with me while I was at school.

Mom & Deb Thanks for all the support and motivation

Mike & Denise Again thanks for all the support and motivation, but also for without the two this probably wouldn't be happening.

Silvia My girlfriend for putting up with my moods at this was winding down.

Reflections

A Special Thanks! I would like to thank all those individuals that have made this edition of Aubade possible. I especially thank the Aubade Staff of 1996-1997 for all their hard work and dedication, which was so greatly needed to complete this book. I wish them the best of luck in their years as members of the yearbook staff, and hope they reap the rewarding benefits of being a part of the
